FROM: Harry E. Fitzwater
Deputy Director for Administration

SUBJECT: Letter from [redacted] re Supercomputers STAT

REFERENCES: A. Letter for DDA from [redacted], dated 16 March 1983, Subject: Supercomputers STAT

B. Letter for [redacted] from DDA, dated 16 March 1983, Subject: Supercomputers STAT

My letter to [redacted] STAT thanking him for his briefing on the Jason Supercomputer Project (Reference B) crossed his letter (Reference A) in the mail. As you can see from my letter, CIA has no use for a supercomputer now or in the immediate future. While we voiced our support for the project, I declined Bill's offer to be the lead Agency in the Jason Project, and suggested the National Security Agency or another Department of Defense agency as a possibility.
